Rodent Ceiling Activity is a Common Problem

Rodent mitigation services are traditionally a “ground game” with a “strengthen the perimeter” approach. But rodents are exceptional climbers – and businesses increasingly deal with rodent activity in ceilings and other hard-to-access void spaces within the building.

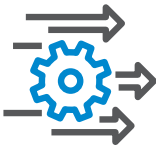

Ecolab Rodent Ceiling Service Provides an Elevated Solution

Ecolab’s Rodent Ceiling Service elevates your service and protection, providing expanded coverage with innovative technology designed for hard-to-access spaces. This early warning system enables our highly trained service specialists to identify emerging rodent issues early and eliminate the problem – before it can grow and damage your business and brand.
